CALL FOR A MEETING

Formation of Georgetown Bus. ness Men's Association.

Views Expressed by Representative Bealers of That Section.

Funeral of Mrs. Eliza Margaret Dunlon-Dances at the Linthleum Institute-Other Notes.

The proposed formation of a business men's resociation for Georgetown is gaining ground and there has been a lively interest displayed on the part of prominent merchants. Arrangements are being perfected for issuing a call for a meeting some time this week, and it is antidpated by those who are interested in the move ment that it will be largely attended.

Robert Tenny, of the firm of William H. Tenny & Sons, said this morning to a Times reporter that he is in favor of the mevement and that much good would un-doubtedly come from such an organization in the West End. He further said that he is willing to co-operate with the associstion and will use his best efforts to get ciation started on a substantial footing.

Henry G. Wagner said: "The proposed association, if properly started and backed by some of the representative men of Georgetown, will resint in a considerable advancement to Georgetown's interests. There are to my knowledge a number of managements which court to be attended. vements which ought to be attended once and the only way to bring them to at once and the only way to bring them about is to organize such an association as the one proposed. I am willing to lend my support to the movement."

Georgetown had a citizens' association.

The organization existed at a time when such associations were popular through-out the District, and at that time much good was accomplished for Georgetown. But within the past few years the interest in these representative associations has died out. Now there seems to be a general revival to pushing improvements to the front and it seems to be the proper time to organize a representative body of citizens who will actively and aggressive-ity interest themselves in promoting the interests of this section of the city." Said George Boteler, of the firm of Cropley & Boteler: "The association, if proerly organized under the direction of good substantial business men, will fill a long-felf need in this section of the city. The associations of the other sections of the District have secured improvements for their respective parts of the city, while Georgetown has been at a standstill in this respect. Semething ought to be done to-mediately and I think that the proposed association is a move in the right direc-

B. F. Waddey said: "The proposed as sociation is a good thing and I am willing to co-operate with it. I think that the est of Georgetown have been more o less perioded for several years past and while I do not believe in taking money which is due to other pairs of the city. I think that more should be expended in this section of Washington

M. Greenbaum said. The association which The Times advocates ought to ma-terially advance the interests of George-town. Good men seem to be behind the ment and there is no reason why sev eral tiems in the line of street improve-ments and the much-needed bridges across flock Creek caunot be brought to the at-tention of the Commissioners in such a way as to secure definite action."

LOOKING FOR THE PAUL JONES. A Revenue Cutter to Search for the Missing Yncht.

Captain Shoemaker, of the Revenue Cut. ter Service, received an official dispatch this morning stating that the naphtha launch Paul Jones, which left Louisville for a trip down the Mississippi River and for a trip down the Aussissippi river and around the Gulf of Mexico, with a distinguished party of tourists, had not been heard from since January 3, the day that she left the mouth of the Mississippi. Captain Shoemaker, at the request of Senator Fairbanks, hrs ordered the revenue cutter Winona, now at Mobile to make a battroi ons, now at Mobile, to make a patro along the coast between Port Eads and Fennacola, in hopes of locating the yach. He also instructed the revenue collectors between these two points to keep a sharp lookout for the missing vessel.

The Transport Grant to Leave New York Tomorrow.

Expects to Reach the Philippines in Forty-five Days.

General Lawton and Sinff. With Companies of Regular Infantry, on Board.

New York, Jan. 16.-The first perfected ransport of the United States Army, and the first troopship to sail from the port of New York direct to Manila, leaves th foot of Pacific Street, in Brooklyn, tomorrow, bound for the Philippinese, The fine new United States transpor

Grant is to carry Gen. Lawton and staff and the Fourth Regiment of Infantry and one battalion of the Seventeenth Infantry, 1,500 men, all regulars.

The officer immediately in command of the sixteen companies on board the Grant will be Gen. Robert Hall, who was col-onel of the Fourth Infantry. The navy will be represented on the ship

The Grant will go through the Suez Canal. The first stop will be for coal at Gibraitar. The next cooling station will be Port Said, the next at some point in the China Sea not yet selected, whence the troopship will sail for Manila.

The voyage, it is thought, will take forty-five days.

The Grant was the Mohawk, of the At rying soldiers. When the war ended and the Government determined to keep the Mohawk it was decided to make her a model troopship, and to use every idea in her construction which could be got fro the building of previous transports, both in this country and clsewhere. The name of the ship was changed to Grant, in honor of the great civil war get eral, and she was sent to Bath, Me., where crai, and she was sent to Bath, Me., where the Bath Iron Works took a contract to make the necessary alterations for $85,900. But before the work had been completed the Government had expended $135,000. Marvels have been accomplished by the constructors, especially when it is consid-ered that the ship was, at first building, a freighter.

freighter. The vessel is 532 feet long, 55 feet beam ad 24 feet depth of hold. Its tonnage is .083. It has twin screws and triple expansion engines.

The ship has been fitted to carry 2,170 callsted men-2,690 men, including officers nd crew.

The hold has been used for luggage and upplies, and the lock boxes of the men nd the trunks and effects of the efficers have been assigned certain sections. The ship contains three main decks, the first two from below having been fitted up into model sleeping compartments. The bunks have been arranged in nests of ten, some times more. Their detail construction shows great ingenuity. Everything except the canvas bottom itself and the ropes holding it is of metal, the framework being of zinced iron piping. Each bed can be lifted bodily from its resting place, and a sick man can be carried, by virtue of this arrangement, to the hospital on his bed as a litter.

The canvas on which the sleeper rests is detachable, and if infected can be thrown away, or, if simply soiled, can be washed and put back. The canvas costs 19 cent ach. The bunkrooms are lighted through-ut by electricity.

Much thought has been devoted to the system of ventilation. The bunk com-partments are ramified by zinc piping, branches of which run above each nest of berths. Fans, large and powerful, pro-pelled by electricity, blow either hot or old air to every part of the ship.

The upper deck is used for mess rooms, which enable nearly all the men to eat a sitting. On this deck also are the kitchens. The details have been so arkitchens. The details have been so ar-ranged that a regiment can be under the same discipline on ship as in its barracks The lavatories contain batteries of seventy porcelain washbowls, with hot and old water, together with shower baths, etc. Quartermaster Capt. Jesse M. Baker pointed proudly to these arrangements for emiliness, saying:

"It is utterly impossible for any sick-ess to come on this ship by reason of a lack of cleanliness.

The cooking for the most part will be done by a steam. Coffee retorts holding two barrels of the beverage will furnish this mild stimulant to the soldiers. Particular care has been exercised upon the hospital, which, with the exception of the nearness of the beds to each other, made necessary by ship-space, will com-pare favorably to a Bellevue ward. Soft, luxurious beds, fine linen and ample ventilation will make many a soldier wish he were only slightly ill. The hospital, which, is on the second deck, is in the ex-fereme after part of the ship, where sea movement is felt less and where the vibration is least. It has been entirely isolated from the rest of the ship, and has its own kitchen, where a special cook can prepare the delicacies that sick men require. The officers' quarters are on the poop leck, and while comfortable, are by

There he leaped upon a truck, firing at the possession. Yesterday afternoon, however, the engine was sent away for a fresh supply of water, and at once the Cleve-land, Lorain and Wheeling got in its work. First the other company's engine was blocked from again establishing its blockade, after which a force of men tore up the newly laid tracks of the Wheeling and also established its own blockade at the disputed point. In addition a Wheeling and Lake Erie ar was shot over a switch into the Ohio River, which is now at a high stage, and the car is entirely submerged. Two Clevland, Lorain and Wheeling cars were derailed and badly damaged.

BURGLAR SHOT TO KILL. Desperate Intruder Fires Twice at

Pastor Petersen's Wife. New York, Jan. 16 .- A burglar, surpris ed by Mrs. J. C. J. Petersen, in the bedroom of her home, at No. 247 Third Street Jersey City, last night, drew a revolver and fired at her point blank,

The shot flew wide and the man, dashing from the house, turned near the front door and fired another futile shot at the woman. Then, after a wild chase through the streets, crowded at the time with churchgoers, he was run down and captured. The murderous thief was identified as Thomas alias 'Red.' Dugan, a notorious crook. Mrs. Petersen, who is the wife of the paster of the German Lutheran Church entered her bedroom about 9 o'clock last night. She was startled to see a man bus ily at work rilling the bureau drawers. She screamed, and the thief, drawing his revolver, exclaimed: "Keep quiet, d—n you, or I'll kill you!" The woman could not repress a second cry and the shot fol-on the Measure. Senator Cullom, chairman of the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, has practically recovered from the effects of his recent fall upon a slippery pavement anxious to secure favorable action this session on the bill commonly called the anti-scalping bill.

Mr. Cullom's committee reported last session a measure that proposes to wipe the brokers out of existence, but the opponents secured an understanding that it should not be called up until the commit-tee reported the general amendments to the interstate commerce law, including the proposed new section that will permit the railroads to pool under proper Gov ernment restrictions. Things have drag ged along so that the committee has not perfected the latter bill. The House pass-ed an anti-scalping bill. That is now lying on the table in the Senate, not hav-ing been referred to the committee, as is the prevailing custom. Mr. Cullom does not wish it referred to his committee. He is anxious to move to adopt the House bill, realizing that if it is referred Senators Chandler, Tillman and Chilton may haggle and prevent a report between now and the 4th of March. Senator Tillman says the 4th of March. Senator Fillman says that there is a great deal of feeling over this matter, and he appears to be positive that things are in such shape that the bill cannot possibly pass the Senate between now and the 4th of March.

A lively fight is going on, and the chances are that the debates within the next two weeks will amply demonstrate that fact.

"Hello! Central. Give me 1557."

"Hello!"

"Is this Tolman's Steam Laundry?"

"Yes."

"Well, say -- I've heard so much about your good laundry work want to give you a trial. Send your wagon for the bundle."

"All right. Good-
